

COMMISSIONER BOGART PLEADS FOR GARBAGE DISPOSAL BY BURIAL

SMELL COMPLAINED OF BY MILL HILL PEOPLE CAME, HE SAYS, FROM PLANT OF BY- PRODUCTS COMPANY

ABSOLUTELY NO ODOR FROM GARBAGE BURIED AT TOWN FARM—IT IS SPRINKLED WITH LIME AND COVERED

Many Towns in the Country Successfully Bury Garbage and Dispense With Costly Machinery and Apparatus

Health Commissioner Frank G. Bogart was indignant this morning when he read a statement that the residents in the northern part of East Bridgeport, particularly those on Mill Hill, were getting a smell from the city's garbage. It was intimated that the smell must come from the buried garbage on the town farm.

Commissioner Bogart said: "There is no smell from the buried garbage. I visited the place yesterday. There is no smell. The garbage is covered over with lime every night before the trenches are covered in. It looks as though some of the friends of the proposition to have the city buy the old plant were getting busy."

"They know they have to have to bury garbage for three months while a new plant is being erected. Samuel Chaffee, the city's weigher of garbage, assured me this morning that there was no odor from the garbage trenches. If anyone who believes there is a smell from the buried system will call upon me I will accom-

ALUMNI FRAT PLAN BANQUET AS WAKE FOR B. H. S. SOCIETIES

About 50 members of the active and alumni chapters, High School Fraternities, assembled Tuesday night, with every effort at secrecy, in the rear room of the brokerage office of Hincks & Company to discuss the passing of the frat and sororities from the High school in accordance with the recent ruling of the Board of Education.

It was the sense of the meeting that a large banquet should be arranged, to which should be invited prominent members of fraternities who have long since graduated from the High school and have made their mark in the world. Members of affiliated college fraternities are also to be invited.

A former reporter talked with one of the alumni frat men, this morning. He said: "The plan is to give the Frats as good a wake as can be arranged."

Said the reporter: "Isn't it the purpose of the banquet, to gain support for the Frats and create sentiment in their favor, in the hope that public opinion about them may be changed, and the board induced to reconsider?"

"Nothing of the kind," was the reply. "The matter continued. We can see no chance to revive the school societies in Bridgeport High school, although we believe they have done great things to advance their members in scholarship and to improve them for their work in the world."

The same informant said that the fraternal publication to get this stuff out of the way. What the people smelled was undoubtedly the gases from this fertilizer. It is not fair to blame the system of burying the garbage should be blamed for obnoxious odors for the board of health has taken too much care of that."

"The burying process is used in many towns about the country and in one town I saw it buried in a field there was no smell."

CENTRAL VERMONT CAN'T COME HERE

Railroad Cancels Order For Res- ervation of City Dock.

That Bridgeport harbor is not for competition was demonstrated again, today, when Harbormaster Charles H. Morris received the following letter from the Central Vermont railway company, a letter cancelling an order under which it had reserved the city dock for a steamboat landing every Sunday during the summer.

The Central Vermont asked for the use of the dock for the purpose of running excursions to Bridgeport Sunday and holidays. The railroad says: "In connection with our recent correspondence concerning docking our steamer at the City wharf, your letter, we beg to advise that the company who leased the steamer to us for the reason objected to our running to Bridgeport, and of course, under these circumstances we will be unable, just at present, to run a boat to your town."

MR. AND MRS. KEEGAN FOOL BRIDAL PARTY

Take Express at Trumbull, Which Doesn't Stop in Bridgeport

It was a surprised gathering of rice throwers who witnessed Jimmy Keegan and his bride a few hours, Miss Belle Frazer, Fulton street, July morning. The couple were married at 6 o'clock in the morning, by a nuptial mass, by Rev. C. J. McElroy, pastor of St. Augustine's church. The bride party gathered at the railroad station to give the departing couple a send off, but Mr. Keegan had made great preparations for the elusion of the merry makers. Enlisting the services of James H. Kelly, the cigar man, the duo boarded his auto and made haste to Trumbull, where arrangement had been made with Major Flynn, conductor of the express, to take on the bridal couple. The bride is one of Bridgeport's most prepossessing young women, while the groom is well known, being a bookkeeper for Hugh Lavery & Co. He is possessed of a splendid heritance voice, and has been heard many times in this city, especially in affairs given by the A. B. C. club, of which organization he is the treasurer. Mr. Keegan only recently became an Elk.

"I HAVE NOTHING TO SAY, BUT I'LL LEAN ON BULKELEY"

George L. McLean, candidate for United States Senator to succeed Morgan G. Bulkeley, made a statement, this morning, in which he says that he is under no obligation to Bulkeley not to be a candidate and that he had every reason to expect that Bulkeley would support his candidacy. The statement follows:

"Some time ago Senator Bulkeley emphatically denied that he had ever given to me or any friend of mine any assurance that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1911. I made such reply at the time as seemed to me to be sufficient and considered. But repeated intimations that then said too little or too much compel me to make public some of the facts upon which I based my very brief treatment of the matter."

"In the summer of 1904 Senator Bulkeley on several occasions urged me to be a candidate for the Senate in 1905. He told me that he was not sleeping well and that his business interests were such that he could not leave them and go to Washington. I persuaded him not to make a public announcement of his intention not to be a candidate, as I felt that he could soon recover and his condition of insomnia would then deeply regret the loss of the gratification of a long-cherished ambition. Subsequent events justified my advice. A month or so later Senator Bulkeley told me in his office that he had decided to stay in the race, but he then assured me that two or three years would be all that he could spare for Washington. He said to me then, 'You can bet, Sam, (Fessenden) easier than I can, and if you ought to be in the Senate, and if I win out you won't have to wait long after he became senator he expressed great pleasure in the fact that I had regained my own health, and I gathered from his conversation that he clearly intended to give me his loyal support in 1911, or before. When he urged me to stay in the race, as a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by Senator Platt's death he told me that

HARVARD UPS VALE COLLARS IN THE THAMES WINNING BOTH RACES

(Special from United Press.)
New London, June 30.—Harvard won the two morning races with Yale freshman eight and varsity four in such impressive style today that the Crimera varsity is strong favorite for the big varsity event this afternoon.

Harvard won the freshmen by 1-1-2 lengths and the varsity could have made it several times this lead had they been pushed. In the varsity four Yale went all to pieces in the last furlong and lost what appeared to be a commanding lead, finishing with four open lengths of water between the two crews.

The Yale four rowed out its last ounce of strength and at the finish L. K. Thorne, of Babylon, L. L. bow oarsman, collapsed in a dash of water in his face revived him.

The Harvard freshmen won their race with plenty to spare, leading from the first hundred yards. Harvard rowed with the even stroke of military precision and at the mile and a half point Yale's defeat was inevitable.

The varsity four race was from the drawbridge to the navy yard. Yale won the east course and Harvard the west. The varsity four began at the navy yard and was rowed upstream for a further two miles. Once more Yale got off the lead in the four oared race, which was started at 11:40. It looked all Yale for the first mile and a quarter, at which point Yale was 1-3-4 lengths ahead of Harvard. However, had a far greater reserve strength than Yale, and the moment the latter began tiring the Crimson boat slipped forward. The Yale crew was in plain distress for the last half mile and lost what appeared to be a commanding lead, finishing with four open lengths of water between the two crews.

Indications are that the big race will not be a close one. Harvard, after a long and arduous chase by Special Policeman Clifford Gorgas, the motor cycle cop.

He succeeded in halting Chandler before the speeder reached Park avenue. Park Commissioner George M. Eames was driving through the section at the time. He followed the bicycle cop and his prisoner to police headquarters. Eames took occasion to berate Chandler for his reckless driving.

"You're the sort of men we are trying to get," declared Eames, addressing Chandler and the men captured yesterday. "The sentence imposed was the heaviest ever given in a New York court for policy dealing."

Chandler said he was 30 years old, lived in West Chester, and said he was a theatrical manager. His wife was formerly featured with Sam Bernhardt's shows, and of late has been a vaudeville headliner in the larger cities.

Wallace D. Ayer, a student, 20 years old, of West Chester, and H. W. Webb, also a student, of 15 E. 51st street, New York city, were arrested yesterday for speeding. The cases of Chandler and the men captured yesterday were continued in the city court today until tomorrow they posting bonds of $25 each for their appearance here. This was done to allow the automobile parties to proceed to the boat races.

STOCKS DROP TO NEW LOW MARKS TODAY

(Special from United Press.)
New York, June 30.—With the entire list under pressure from the opening of the stock market today, there was another big falling off in values, new low standards for the entire year being reached in many of the most respected marks in common—70—which had lasted all year and below which it had been reported the control of that decreed had decreed it must not fall. It was reached before noon when there was a drop to 69-7-8. This was 25 points below the stock's high record.

Leading stocks of the day, A. T. & C. Union Pacific, Amalgamated, Southern Pacific and several others of the "investor leaders" dropped to new low marks.

LALLEY BUYS SETZER HOME

Bernard Setzer today completed the sale of his handsome residence in Fairfield avenue to Otto A. Lallely of Park avenue. The property was formerly the Ezekiel Birdseye home and is one of the most desirable residences in the city having been remodeled by Mr. Setzer. The house contains 17 rooms and a large refrigerator built into the building. The lot has 160 feet frontage in Fairfield avenue, 160 feet frontage in Fremont street and is 425 feet deep.

Actress Weds Lawyer

(Special from United Press.)
New York, June 29.—Met at the pier by her fiancé when the steamer Titanic arrived today, Beatrice Forbes Robertson, the actress and niece of Robert Robertson, the noted British actor, was wed an hour later. Her husband is Swineburn Hall, a New York lawyer, and the ceremony was performed in the "Little Church Around the Corner" by Rev. Dr. C. C. Houghton. The couple met here last March, where both were on the program to deliver addresses at a suffragette meeting.

GOVERNOR SANDERS FOR U. S. SENATE

New Orleans, June 30.—The Legislature, which is now in session, is expected to select Governor Jared Y. Sanders for the United States Senate. The death of Senator McHenry gives Governor Sanders the chance he has long wanted—viz., to go to the United States Senate. Governor Sanders championed the anti-racing bill that killed horse racing in Louisiana. In the Legislature selects Sanders to succeed McHenry, the duties of State executive.

"MILLIONAIRE'S KID" ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

Grace LaRue's Husband Was Burning Up Fairfield Avenue Today
GEORGE M. EAMES IS WITNESS
Chandler Posts Bond of $25 and Hurries on to the Boat Races

Byron E. Chandler, known in theatrical and sporting circles as "the millionaire kid" and the husband of Grace LaRue, the actress, was arrested at 8:30 this morning speeding through the West End at a 50 mile clip, hurrying from his home in Mt. Vernon to the scene of the boat races at New London.

Chandler was overhauled only after a sensational chase by Special Policeman Clifford Gorgas, the motor cycle cop.

He succeeded in halting Chandler before the speeder reached Park avenue. Park Commissioner George M. Eames was driving through the section at the time. He followed the bicycle cop and his prisoner to police headquarters. Eames took occasion to berate Chandler for his reckless driving.

"You're the sort of men we are trying to get," declared Eames, addressing Chandler and the men captured yesterday. "The sentence imposed was the heaviest ever given in a New York court for policy dealing."

J. H. O'Rourke to SUCCEED HIMSELF

Mayor Buckingham Names Him For Paving Commission

Appointment is For 6 Years and
Choice is Most Excellent

Mayor Buckingham today appointed James H. O'Rourke as a member of the Permanent Paving Commission for the long term of six years, to succeed himself.

Mr. O'Rourke was appointed to the commission by ex-Mayor Lee, just before the commission was created. His term was for one year. During this period Mr. O'Rourke has diligently labored with the problems of the city, and has conscientiously and with ability dealt with the affairs of the board as they have been presented.

Under these circumstances Mayor Buckingham felt that justice and the public service required the reappointment of Mr. O'Rourke.

Commissioner O'Rourke has served as a member of the Fire board, but has not otherwise than here related held public office during his long residence in Bridgeport. Athlete, lawyer, and public servant, Mr. O'Rourke is as devoted to the city as the men of the city as his fellow citizens are to have him.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR BRIDGEPORT POLICY DEALER

(Special from United Press.)
New York, June 30.—Indicted for trading in stolen goods, a so-called offender, William Cotter, 55 of Bridgeport, Conn., was this afternoon sentenced to two years and three months in Sing Sing prison, and fined $250 by Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions Court. His trial lasted five days, he being defended by Wallace D. Scott, who recently appeared for Albert W. Wolter, murderer of the unfortunate stenographer, Ruth Wheeler. The jury was out less than two minutes, returning a verdict of guilty. The sentence imposed was the heaviest ever given in a New York court for policy dealing. "Al" Adams only having to serve two years.

PROGRAM FOR OYSTER BOAT RACES FIXED

The annual Oyster boat races will be held under the auspices of the Bridgeport Yacht club, July 4. The winner will receive a prize of $25. If there are more than three entries a second prize of $15 will be offered and if more than five entries, a third prize of $10. The race will start at the club house and the course will be to the Black Rock buoy, to Bridgeport can buoy, to a boat anchored two miles out and back to club house, twice around, and ending at club.

The Bird class races will also take place. There will be fireworks, dancing and a concert in the evening. Entries should be made to T. H. Macdonald, 1500 Fairfield avenue, giving water line and over all length of boat.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT MEET AT BEVERLY

But it is Asserted That There Will be no Endorsement of the President by "Bwana Tumbo"

(Special from United Press.)
Beverly Mass., June 30.—What Colonel Roosevelt thinks of President Taft and his treatment of "my policies" is likely to develop here this afternoon when the two will meet for the first time since that day in Washington when "Bwana Tumbo" handed over the reins of power to his political protégé.

Senator Lodge, in the manifold capacity of friend of Roosevelt and adviser of the administration, is responsible for the meeting. Both the ex-President and the Executive cautiously sparred for some time before final arrangements were perfected.

Newspapermen have been absolutely barred from the White House grounds and President Taft does not propose to get within camera shot. "I purely social call" is the way the conference is termed by the executive officials.

The Executive, it is known, favors the direct primary system, but differs slightly with Hughes in its application. The outcome will be, in all probability, that the leaders in New York will receive an ultimatum from President Taft to get together for the Hughes plan.

NO REAL ENDORSEMENT
FOR WILLIAM FROM TEDDY
Boston, June 30.—Under the heading

"There Will Be No Real Endorsement" the Boston Traveller today publishes a leading editorial on the Taft Roosevelt relations which is the most daring pronouncement New England has seen since the return of the former President from abroad. The Traveller says:

"The gentlemen who head privileged industries and the newspapers that foster and protect those gentlemen are moving Heaven and earth right now to muzzle Theodore Roosevelt or break his popularity."

Roosevelt must therefore, be squelched.

"The trusts and their newspapers will do their utmost to make Roosevelt swallow Taft. Do not be surprised by all that is printed or said. Mr. Roosevelt does not endorse Taft's administration now and will not."

"Of course there will be no open rupture at this time between the two. Roosevelt is planning the course he shall pursue during the next two years. He is at present undecided. He may become a Presidential candidate on a Republican or Independent ticket, he may attempt to lead his party out of the wilderness in a private capacity. These are the things that occupy his mind."

"But there will be no hot handshake nor approving slap on the back, no 'bully WILL' endorsement."

MORGAN DEGREE IS CRITICIZED

(Special from United Press.)
Washington, June 30.—"I did not think that my own university would stoop to that," said Dr. Harvey Wiley, the government's chief food scientist, today in commenting upon the conferment of the degree of LL. D. by Harvard University upon J. P. Morgan.

The ostensible reason that Mr. Morgan is a part connoisseur is obviously insufficient," he said. "The real reason, no doubt, is that Harvard has expectations of gifts that may come. A collector of pictures has no more claim to the degree of L. D. than a stamp or coin collector."

AVIATOR HARMON TO PILOT DISTINGUISHED PARTY OF WOMEN ON NIGHT FLIGHT

(Special from United Press.)
Pittsfield, Mass., June 30.—Clifford B. Harmon, the aviator, is preparing to make a balloon flight from this city with Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, William K. Vanderbilt, and Miss Cornelia Bryce and Mrs. W. Bourke Cochran as passengers. Mr. Harmon will use his own big racing balloon.
